COMMISSION MEMORANDUM

TO: Honorable Mayor and Members of the City Commission

FROM: Eric Carpenter, City Manager

DATE: November 18, 2026 2:45 p.m. First Reading Public Hearing

TITLE: AN ORDINANCE OF THE MAYOR AND CITY COMMISSION OF THE CITY OF MIAMI BEACH, FLORIDA, AMENDING APPENDIX A TO THE CITY CODE, ENTITLED "FEE SCHEDULE" BY AMENDING THE CALCULATION OF BUILDING DEPARTMENT PERMIT FEES AND INSPECTION FEES FROM VALUE BASED FEES TO SQUARE FOOTAGE FEES IN ORDER TO CONFORM WITH THE RECENTLY ENACTED AMENDMENTS TO SECTION 553.80, FLORIDA STATUTES AND PROVIDING FOR REPEALER, SEVERABILITY, CODIFICATION, AND AN EFFECTIVE DATE.

RECOMMENDATION

The Administration recommends adopting an updated fee schedule based on the Fee Allocation Study completed by JRD and Associates, required by Florida Statute 553.80 and approving the Ordinance as presented on Second Reading.

BACKGROUND/HISTORY

Effective July 1, 2026, implementation of HB803 significantly changed the way Building Departments may assess permitting fees. Under the new statutory requirements, fees can no longer be based on the cost of construction. Additionally, HB803 mandates minimum discounts for projects utilizing Private Providers: a minimum 25% discount must be applied when Private Providers perform building inspections only, and a minimum 50% discount must be applied when they perform both inspections and plan review services, please see executive summary provided in Exhibit A.

JRD & Associates was contracted to conduct an assessment of the Building Department's permitting fee structure. JRD & Associates has completed permit fee and operational studies for multiple Miami Dade County municipalities including Coral Gables, Doral, South Miami and Sunny Isles. Their scope includes evaluating current revenues and expenditures, identifying necessary modifications to align with Florida Statute, and providing recommendations to ensure the fee Building Department's fee structure, allows the department to continue delivering expected customer service levels and maintaining an adequate fund balance.

ANALYSIS

Permitting and financial data from FY23 through the current fiscal year were analyzed as part of the fee study. The methodology included evaluating historical permitting activity and establishing a revenue based per square foot value, using a conversion model which converts total construction value into a square footage cost based on historical permitting fee data. In addition to creating square foot based fees, flat fees were developed for permit types where using a permit fee by square foot method is not appropriate, please see Exhibit B. These flat fees were calculated using the department's hourly usage rate, determining the number of hours required for clerical processing, plan review, and inspection activities. This hourly rate was established at $100 per hour.

JRD & Associates provided several permit fee by square footage options. The selected option maintains revenue levels relatively close to current collections while reducing permit fees for Commercial New, Commercial Alteration, Residential New, and Residential Alteration work classes. Four examples have been provided for comparison, illustrating that, on average, permit fees will decrease under the proposed structure. The proposed fee is the following, $4.00/SF Commercial New, $3.75/SF Commercial Alteration, $3.00/SF New Single Family Residence, $2.75/SF Residential Alteration, please see the examples shown below:

Commercial New Construction
Square Footage – 42,833
Construction Value - $18,000,000
Current Fee - $342,000
Proposed Fee - $171,332
Fee Difference - $170,668

Residential New Construction
Square Footage – 4,228
Construction Value - $1,000,000
Current Fee - $17,000
Proposed Fee - $12,684
Fee Difference - $4,316

Commercial Alteration
Square Footage – 34,916
Construction Value - $9,861,337
Current Fee - $187,365
Proposed Fee - $130,935
Fee Difference - $56,430

Residential Alteration
Square Footage – 1,500
Construction Value - $245,872
Current Fee - $4,180
Proposed Fee - $4,125
Fee Difference - $55

The department anticipates additional statutory changes during the next legislative cycle. Current Building Department reserves are sufficient to allow the use of excess reserves to reduce permitting fees at this time. Please see revenue projections provided in Exhibit C. Any future fee adjustments will require a new fee allocation study, is expected to occur in 2027 or 2028 based on forthcoming legislative updates. Fees will be revisited once these adjustments are completed.

CONCLUSION

The Administration's proposed updates to the fee schedule, based on the comprehensive Fee Allocation Study conducted by JRD & Associates and required by Florida Statute 553.80, positioning the Building Department to remain compliant with recent legislative changes while continuing to provide high-quality customer service. The recommended fee structure reflects a balanced approach that maintains stable revenue levels, incorporates a square foot and flat fee based model aligned with HB803, and responsibly utilizes existing reserves to reduce permitting costs. Adoption of the updated fee schedule and approval of the Ordinance on Second Reading will ensure statutory compliance, and prepare the department for anticipated legislative adjustments in future cycles.

City of Miami Beach Building Fee Study
Executive Summary

Overview

The City of Miami Beach engaged JRD & Associates (JRD) to evaluate the Building Department's (Department) permit fee structure and develop an updated methodology that reflects recent changes in Florida law, the City's cost of providing permit-related services, and the operational effort associated with reviewing, processing, and issuing permits. A key driver of the study was House Bill 803 (HB 803), which affects the use of construction value as a basis for certain building permit and inspection fees and includes requirements related to permits utilizing private providers. The Bill was signed into law in May 2026 by the Governor. The fee study also provides the City an opportunity to simplify its fee schedule, improve transparency for applicants and City staff, and align individual fees more closely with the level of effort required to provide each service.

JRD's objective was to develop a building permit fee structure that reflects the City's actual and fully burdened cost of providing services; aligns fees with the effort associated with those services; utilizes square-footage-based and flat-fee methodologies where appropriate; and results in a fee schedule that is concise and easier to understand and administer. The analysis also considered the relationship between cost recovery and the potential revenue impacts associated with transitioning to a new fee structure.

Methodology and Approach

JRD conducted a comprehensive review of the City's existing building permit fees, operating costs, permit activity, and historical charging methodology. The analysis included review of residential and commercial permit activity for the past three fiscal years, including available information on construction value, square footage, project type, and fees charged. JRD also evaluated the impacts of HB 803, and calculated the Building Department's fully burdened hourly cost of providing permit-related services.

For major construction categories, JRD evaluated representative permit activity and the relationship among project size, construction value, and historical permit fees. This analysis was used to transition appropriate fees away from a value-of-construction methodology and toward a square-footage-based methodology. For other permit and service categories, JRD developed flat fees based on estimated staff level of effort and the fully burdened hourly rate. This approach is intended to more directly connect the fee charged with the resources required to provide the applicable service. The proposed schedule therefore uses a combination of square-footage-based fees and flat fees depending on the nature of the permit or service.

Fully Burdened Hourly Rate

Using the City's FY 2026 Department adopted budget of $21,757,000, including personnel, operating, capital outlay, and indirect support costs and the Department's personnel count, JRD calculated the Department's fully burdened hourly cost at approximately $100 per hour. This rate provides a common cost basis for establishing flat fees for services where the required level of effort can be reasonably estimated.

Private Provider Analysis

The study also incorporates the effect of private-provider permitting on City workload and revenue. JRD developed allocations for the administrative, plans review, and inspection components of the Department's costs so that fee reductions for private-provider permits can reflect the functions no longer performed by City staff, while retaining the portion of the fee attributable to services that the City continues to provide.

In developing the revenue projections, JRD also evaluated potential private-provider utilization and modeled the corresponding reduction in fee revenue. As a result, the projected revenue associated with the proposed fee schedule is intended to reflect not only anticipated permit activity, but also the effect of private-provider discounts on the amount ultimately retained by the City.

Proposed Fee Structure and Revenue Impact

Based on the analysis described above, JRD and the City have developed a proposed fee structure that transitions major residential and commercial construction permits to square-footage-based fees while establishing flat fees for other permit and service categories based on the estimated level of effort required to provide the service.

The proposed square-footage-based fees for Commercial New, Commercial Remodel, Residential New, and Residential Remodel are summarized below. These fees are inclusive of the expenses associated with building, structural, and MEP plan reviews and inspections, as well as all clerical and management activities related to issuing a permit.

	Footnotes for mobility fees imposed pursuant to Section 3.3:
	[1] Floor area is based on areas that count towards the maximum unit size pursuant to the single-family district regulations. [2] The sq. ft. for any buildings or structure shall not be excluded from the acreage. [3] Acreage for any unenclosed material and vehicle storage shall be converted to sq. ft. [4] Areas under a canopy for seating, display, storage and sales shall be converted to sq. ft. [5] Separate fees are associated with any drive-thru lane(s) associated with a restaurant. [6] Restaurant/bar/night club and/or retail sales, that are not exclusive to hotel guests only, shall be calculated based on the separate applicable land use classification. [7] Convenience retail rates are separate from the fee due for vehicle fueling positions. Rates Per vehicle fueling Position also apply to gas stations and service stations with fuel pumps. The fee for any restaurant square footage, seating or drive-thru in a convenience store will be based on the individual fee rate for the land use, not the convenience store rate. [8] Bank building square footage falls under office and is an additive fee beyond the fee due for bank/ATM drive-thru lanes or free-standing ATM's. These rates are per drive-thru lane for the bank and per drive-thru lane with an ATM. The freestanding ATM is for an ATM only and not an
